

CLCNSW First Nations RRR Internship

Kickstart your legal career with a paid placement! Community Legal Centres NSW is offering two-week (10-day) paid internships during university breaks in regional, rural, or remote (RRR) community legal centres.

Calling all Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students—this is your chance to gain hands-on experience in a Community Legal Centre that champions social justice and works closely with Aboriginal communities!

What's in it for you?

- Real-world exposure to the legal field
- Engage with frontline advocacy, courts, client interviews, and community networks
- Build connections with local Aboriginal communities

Travel and accommodation will be provided depending on your placement location.

Eligibility

To be eligible for a place in the internship, you will need to be:

1. Enrolled in a university degree or equivalent
2. Of Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander descent
3. Have an interest in social justice

Potential locations for placement

- Albury / Wodonga
- Armidale
- Broken Hill
- Dubbo
- Forbes
- Katoomba
- Lismore
- Moree
- Newcastle
- Nowra
- Port Macquarie
- Taree
- Wollongong
- Wyong
- Specialist centre on an outreach visit
- For other options, contact Bobbi as below

How to apply

Don't miss this incredible opportunity to step into the world of legal practice and make a real impact. Apply now!

Fill in the application form here or scan the QR code.

For more information, please contact: Bobbi Murray, First Nations Cadetship Administrator, bobbi.murray@clcnsw.org.au

